CHAPTER 92 UPDATE

By Rick Robinson

Hello Everyone,

Tempus Fugit

How time flies is one way to describe these last 7 months. They seemed to drag on forever during our times at home, and yet we're ready to change our clocks for the second time during this pandemic.

Depending on how long you've been collecting, will probably directly relate to the time required to roll back your everyday "runners". At our house we have 10 everyday clocks that I try to keep wound up, along with one wife!

If you think you have a lot of clocks to care for, check out this fellow who looks after the timepieces at Windsor Castle.

Jim Steele, a local clock repairman, has gone into a retirement home and can no longer do repairs. I have attached a hand written list of his parts, along with new movements he has for sale. It's a little hard to read in spots, but if you have any questions, please send them to cmacneil04@gmail.com

During these times of isolation, try and stay in touch with your family first, and then think of your clock collecting friends. A quick Hi, how are you, goes a long way. If you need someone's email address, let me know.

Finally, we have a pretty good website out there, and a great webmaster that we need to take advantage of. Check it out. If you have anything that you could contribute, please do so.

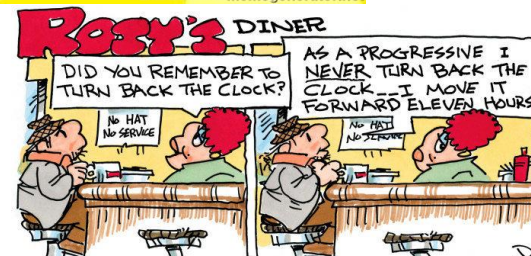

Please bookmark it and check it out.

Thank you Richard Dumala

Take care everyone. See you in 2021.....?.
